"SMIC is very pleased to enter into this facility, with the strong support and assistance of Atradius," commented Morning Wu, Acting Chief Financial Officer of SMIC. "This facility demonstrates SMIC's ability to identify alternative, low-cost funding sources to support its capital expenditures to purchase equipment at the advanced technology nodes. We appreciate the support and cooperation of our lenders and Atradius in reaching the final agreement in a short period of time and look forward to the opportunity to extend the facility in the future."

"This facility agreement, which is the first of its type between Atradius and a semiconductor foundry based in the People's Republic of China, is an indication of the vast possibilities to cooperate and further develop the trade between the Netherlands and China," said Johan Schrijver, Director of Atradius Dutch State Business.

"ABN AMRO is delighted to be able to assist on this landmark transaction for SMIC, which represents the first export credit agency deal out of China which did not require a Chinese government or Chinese bank guarantee," said Mike Netterfield, ABN AMRO Managing Director and Co-head of Technology Banking in Asia Pacific.

"Commerzbank is pleased to have been able to structure and coordinate this Atradius-covered transaction with a corporate borrower in China," said Alexander Rost, Vice President, Structured Export and Trade Finance. "This financing clearly proves how crucial excellent international cooperation between borrowers and lenders, exporters and export credit agencies in the development of cross-border trade has become."
